Paid for by: The Good Christian Mothers of America, Inc.

KGB PRESENTS

readME

Total Infatuation : Free
Wanton Romance : $3

the issue in which we decide to flaunt the Hays Code

VOL VI, ISSUE V, 10/29/2026

Editor-in-Chief: E. V. Joshi, G. Adiga, V. Connor  Publisher: G. Coons  cmureadme.com

Best courses to use as "Course"play

Raytheon Blues
Your BDSM Tutor

Dear Reader,

In my first year of college, I had a sexual awakening while sitting in my 8 AM lecture. As my professor droned on and on—about what, I can't quite remember—I realized just how titillating a situation I was in. I was surrounded by people, with only a tiny fold-out desk to conceal my hands in my lap. Were I to simply become aroused by my professor's sensual murmurs, I would have no choice but to bite my lip and suffer through the next one hundred and ten minutes!

Intrigued by my discovery, I began to investigate the differences between various courses, starting with First-Year writing. As I gathered from my peers, the different sections can have rather different flavors. But one thing is always true: you'll never be satisfied. Class after class, I was brought to the edge, clawing at my desk as the promise of an interesting discussion was dangled in front of me. Many times, my professor would ask a thought-provoking question, and I'd feel a rush of excitement. Finally, something stimulating! I'd then raise my hand, desperate to engage, only for a classmate to interrupt with an observation so painfully obvious that all intellectual tension dissipated. But never fear, I told myself—the next discussion could be different! Or the next. Or… the next? Tears formed in my eyes as I was let down again and again, teetering on the precipice of intellectual ecstasy.

Following the persistent tease of my freshman writing course, I moved on to a class that promised to be more satisfying: 21-259 Calculus in Three Dimensions. This course's content is so sensual, so sinful, that even the homework had me rubbing my thighs together! Searching for the extrema of these surfaces made me feel like I was on a rollercoaster of pleasure; just when I thought I couldn't climb any higher, I'd find out that maximum wasn't absolute! Perhaps the only thing better than the coursework itself was recitation: I once spent the entire hour begging my TA to walk me through just one homework problem. "Please," I cried, "I don't remember how to solve this one! Help me!" They insisted I work it out myself, forcing me through triple integrals like it was a triple orgasm. Oh, god, I'd never felt so deliciously helpless!

This upcoming semester, I plan to take 80-130 Introduction to Ethics. I was inspired by a friend of mine, who told me that nothing gets her going like a crisis of morality. Introductions to Ethics really showed her how naughty she'd been. Learning about Kant had her begging her partner to treat her as a mere means to an end, and Bentham had her curious as to all the ways she can suffer. The hottest parts of her tales, though, were the arguments she'd get into with her peers. She'd feel the heat building under her collar as she'd debate passionately about her most deeply-held beliefs, then take them home for the hate sex of a lifetime. And afterwards, overcome with the shame of having compromised her principles, she'd call them back. "I've been really bad," she'd say. "I think you have a moral imperative to punish me."

As a warning, I urge you not to get too carried away in your explorations of the sexual potential of university lectures. Not everybody finds vocabulary terms and formulas as lustworthy as you and I do. Still, I find the danger of being caught the most exciting part of the whole experience. That's why I sit in the front row of every class, eyes glued to the blackboard as I bite back my moans. The professors mistake this for studiousness and dedication, and, well, I've never been one to turn down praise.

Anti-Oughtiplus Sex!

Surely Jack's Son
Anent Nought

Halfpast hush, window rainrattled, the lampwick whispering made a little sun of her undone cuff. May I? Me: aye: wristward, thurstward, tictactile, hisher pulse and the twobeat beast becoming, tictactile. Grab!tation: now a conjugal third.

[He's barely grabbed her wrist?! At this pace, we'll need a second issue for the left breast.
Cut the "tictactile"; you can't time slow reader … but you sure can measure word count! I have eight pages, and one of them is reserved for a Pabst Blue Ribbon ad (now there's indulgence! Hooch, not words, m'boy.)]
His mouth neared hers under the eye of Ought (for all our actions are judged by Him?), starchcollared, kantankerous, apriapriest of the can'tigorical impervertative, conducting an inchquisition with the ruler of heaven. She, inconveniently a posteriori, declined his declension by kissing the other, lesser, sexier man into the indicative. Habeas corpus! Corpus delecti!

[Name the men each part references. With two men and too much Latin, I can't tell who gets the tongue.
Cut the little God question; He has His own book.
Tell the dick cop to knock, and have him double check his ruler twice. I once met a guy who measured his rod from the back of his neck. If God grades like that, I want my math tests back!]
The room uncounted: rain quicksilvered, pipes groanpsalmed, wick sootgold-hallelujahed. Five fingers found, grounded five; ten attempted the last fastening and encountered the Brastille, final bastion of the propertied. Thesis, antithesis, synthease! She laughed: Ribellion!

[Keep him losing to the bra; trim the bits that make me lose the sentence. I like seeing him sweat, but I shouldn't need a map to find the tits.]
Their lips adjourned; their case did not. Her cuff reclasped, his hand released its hold, he holding nothing against her. Her May must retain mayn't, his holding its let-go, their concurrence the right to differ. Could they come apart without coming undone, or did each conjunction convey an estate in fee-simple flesh?

[I need to know when they fucked. If they didn't, give him a sock to find while she gets dressed.]
Proposition: Desire is production, of potential and the real, rather than lack. No Lacan'tian holeyghost haunting the organon, no private privation awaiting its plug-in saviour. Deleuzionally speaking, there is no hole to be made whole; there is a factory, and the sheets have entered the means of reproduction.

[His dick has a job now? Great, just great. It sleeps all day, stands up for three minutes, and leaves a mess for someone else. I bet his dad got it the job.
Give it a tiny desk, but make it pay for the tightie-whities.]
Demonstration: Two bodies are an assemblagestalt, not an indivisible One, nor One consuming the Other into an I.O.Uterus. No Hegelateral merger, no adverse copossession. To increase freedom is a joyful composition; to decrease either's is a hostile takeover by the phallustate.

[Do his balls count as one, two, zero? They just hang around and agree with the dick. And if he (He?) starts counting sperm, tell him we do not have that kind of space.]
Scholium: Ought prejudged the kiss by a Good existing before goodness, apriorganizing the lips before their meeting could unmake His categories. Neither kiss nor lip is in itself good or bad: only encounters, judged by their power to act. Immanence, not Hymenence; a conatus, not a can't-us. Quod erot desirandum.

[Cut this in half; my dick is soft again.]
Ought thus unrobed. Beneath the robe: a conference lanyard, publish-or-perish the thought. Desire had produced a paper, a generously endowed chair, a funded inaugural intercourse on emancipation. When the bodies petitioned for a say in their citation, he denounced consentorship and claimed academic freedominion.

[He got a grant to watch people fuck? I got thrown out of a hotel for that, and I had a room key. Anyways, we'll run it as a joint piece. Put my name first.]

Buttering up your TA

Vodka Limet
Sloshed

Buttered-Up Teaching Assistant
6 lbs butter, cubed
3 bunches parsley
20 tsp vinegar
134lb Teaching Assistant
½ cup plum jam
43 green onions, sliced
6 cups soy sauce

Critique on Marginal Theory of Murder

joehill's shoes
Student of Ricardo, Marx, and Ripper

The value of murder is determined by the "utility" (pleasure or satisfaction) of said murder.

So say the neoclassical murderers.

The elementary step of nailing down the terms "pleasure" and "satisfaction" regarding murder escapes our dear Gacyesians and Dahmerists. They are all too pleased with their grandiose graphs and speeches to ponder that murder, in all its various forms, takes on widely different use-values, not reducible to "utility", if such a concept even had a sound philosophical basis.

To them, the value of murder is wholly subjective, as immaterial as cryptids or the old tales of Olympus. They have no inkling of suspicion, for even a moment, that murder requires a man to pick up an instrument of harm, wrest the soul away from the body, and bury the freshly emptied vessel. In other words, they fail to comprehend that murder, like all commodities, presupposes human labour.

It is self-evident that to the neoclassical murderers the deeper undercurrents of modern society remained forever hidden. In past epochs, murder was an artisanal trade. The murderer owned his instruments, knew his victims, and could contemplate the finished product of his own hands. But the development of the productive forces has transformed murder from an individual enterprise into a vast, industrial undertaking.

The so-called "serial killers" of our modern-day society are Boeing, Palantir, United Health Group, Shein; juggernauts of slaughter that extract labour of millions to carry out cold and calculated murders on a scale unimaginable hitherto. The external character of this kind of murder alienates the men who contributed to the butchering from their own handiwork. None can look upon his murder and proclaim, with the pride of the old master: I did that.

The chorus of neoclassical murderers shout if free-association between murderers were to take hold, everyone would seek to murder the oldest of men for they have, over the course of their longer lives, absorbed more labour, therefore, their murder holds the greatest value.

In the first place, the value of murder is determined by the labour-time needed to commit said murder, not total labour consumed by the victim. Subjugation of Nature's forces, machinery, have rendered Heracles and Hephaestus equal to the economy of murder. A bullet to a man's temple is a bullet to another.

In truth, this accusation is but a lamentation of existing society. The younger the man, the more labour-power he readily has at his disposal, the more readily he is able to murder, or work for the goal of murder. Companies siphon scores of fresh labour to replace the old. They are compelled, nay obligated to lay ruin to their competitor's freshest stock of labour, hence why bombs deployed by so-called "civilized nations" seem to stray most prejudiced towards schools, nurseries, and hospitals.

This continues until the ends of the Earth, where no one murders by his own means, but the means of another, and those who own the means of murder, do not murder.

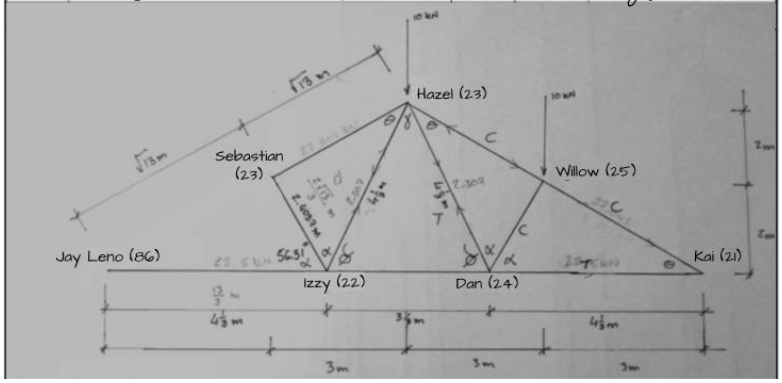

Only when murderers of the world overthrow these conditions can killing between all run freely and abundantly.

"Tanto è amara, che poco è più morte."

Bloomfield Civil Consulting
Human Relations Division

Engineering Drawing Sheet

| REVISIONS | | | | |
|---|---|---|---|---|
| REV | DESCRIPTION | MADE BY | DATE | APPROVED BY |
| 7 | Modeling Sexual Tension in a Polycule | KL | 10/15/26 | Doug Jones |

KGB Presents:

Here's a look at all the exciting, unexciting, and completely unmissable events being hosted by the CMU KGB!

November 7th: Vidya James
7PM in PH A18 (B and C)
Join the KGB for a night of playing video games!

Nov 14th: RPG Knight
7PM in TBD
Bring your dice and most creative character ideas for a night of roleplaying adventures!

Nov 20th: Capture the Flag with Stuff
7PM in TBD
Join the KGB for their flagship event! Bring your friends, capture flags, claim glory!

Radon Removal

- Free quotes!
- Low hassle!
- 15-year warranty!
- No more radon!

Protect your family!
Call 1 (800) NO-RADON!

RADON ADDITION!

- Very affordable!
- All-natural gas!
- Fast-acting effects!
- Odorless and colorless!

INSTALL TODAY!
CALL +18 MORE-RADON!